

Isaacs Faculty Center

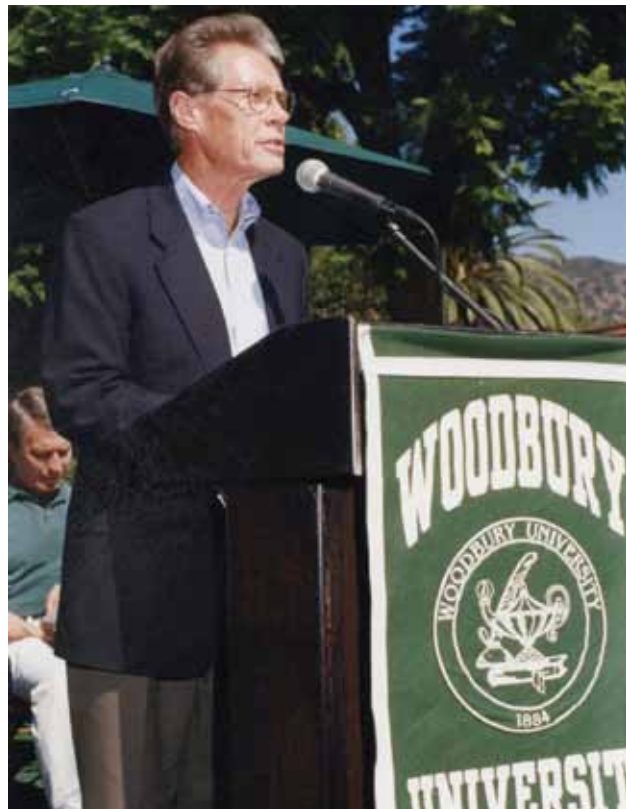

"Ken, you are a fantastic Woodbury University president and nothing in the life of that institution was comparable to what's happened since your arrival. I wanted to tell you! The auspices themselves are fabulous and imposing but so is the curriculum – all those educational possibilities never existed before your aegis."

Helen Gurley Brown '41
Noted Woodbury Alumna and an American Pop Culture Icon

New Woody's outdoor seating

Established Founders' Week

"Over the past 16 years, Ken Nielsen has created an outstanding academic experience for students and propelled Woodbury to new heights of achievement. His energy and vision will be missed."

George Isaacs '52,
Pop Whitten Society and President's Executive Council

"I have been associated with Woodbury as an educator or trustee since 1962. Ever since Ken Nielsen joined the university family many years ago it has been exciting for me to experience with enormous pride Ken's compassion, focus, talent, and vision lift the institution to new levels of impact, relevancy, and respect."

Carl Terzian, Trustee

Design Center

Nielsen installed as Woodbury president

La Canada Flintridge resident Kenneth R. Nielsen is the 10th person to be president of Woodbury University since it was founded in 1884.

On Friday, local dignitaries and his colleagues on the faculty made it official and inaugurated him into office.

Among those in attendance were Los Angeles City Councilman Joel Wiegman, Burbank Mayor Bill Wiegman and consulate representatives from the Colleges of St. Mary in Omaha, Neb. where he was also president. From that experience he said he learned that University presidents at all institutions face many of the same problems.

"Keeping our curriculum current and making sure the University's business stay healthy are really the keys to this job," Nielsen said. "And for a private school, we have to be especially customer oriented. Woodbury I think is especially in tune to the needs of its students."

The new university president stressed the practical nature of Woodbury's curriculum, which includes prerequisites for faculty mem-

"For a private school, we have to be especially customer oriented. Woodbury, I think, is especially in tune to the needs of its students."

—KENNETH R. NIELSEN

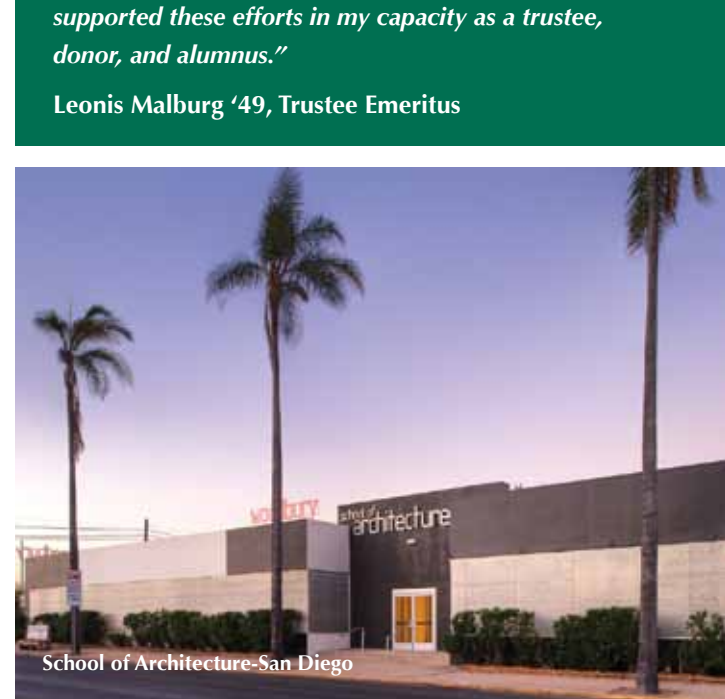

Kenneth R. Nielsen, newly inaugurated president of Woodbury University.

"Ken and his executive leadership team have brought Woodbury to new heights and I am proud to have supported these efforts in my capacity as a trustee, donor, and alumnus."

Leonis Malburg '49, Trustee Emeritus

School of Architecture-San Diego

"Dr. Kenneth Nielsen is leaving a record of outstanding achievement reflecting continuous success in the areas of fundraising and increased student enrollment during his 16 year term serving as president of Woodbury University. His primary legacy is leaving the university in far better financial condition than when he arrived, while enhancing the overall image of the institution to the community at large."

Gary Olson, CEO/President,
Burbank Chamber of Commerce

FEATURES

"I was a trustee before Ken and Rose arrived. So, I know the before. President Nielsen's accomplishments for Woodbury (aided by his indefatigable wife, Rose) border on the miraculous!"

Russell L. Hanlin, Trustee