Edwin Chan received his Bachelor of Arts from the College of Environmental Design at UC Berkeley, and Master of Architecture from the Graduate School of Design at Harvard. After graduation, Edwin joined Frank O. Gehry & Associates in Los Angeles; and has collaborated with Mr. Gehry as Design Partner on many of the firm's most significant projects, including the Opus Residential Tower in Hong Kong, China; an office building for Novartis International in Basel, Switzerland; the Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, Spain, and the Foundation Louis Vuitton in Paris.

Edwin Chan has lectured internationally, and has served as visiting professor of architecture at the Harvard Graduate School of Design, the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, UCLA, and was appointed the Howard Friedman Professor of Practice at UC Berkeley in Fall 2012. In 2013, Edwin launched the architecture and design studio EC3. Based in Los Angeles, EC3 is founded on the principle to Empower Cross-disciplinary Collaboration in Creativity, and embraces a vision for professional practice that transcends culture and geography.
