Architecture Studio and WORD

ferrierArchitectureStudio was founded by principals Graham Ferrier and Keely Colcleugh in 2010 after working many years for internationally acclaimed architects. fAS looks at design, especially architecture, as added value to any project and integral to all forms of production. fAS see themselves as problem solvers finding design resolution through aggressive engagement with the complexities inherent in any project—with an emphasis on human well-being, sustainability, and the environment.

Chris founded the Warren Office for Research and Design in 2010. WORD is driven by a commitment to creative problem solving through design. A thorough and clear understanding of the challenge-at-hand forms the ground from which they leap. Their designs are progressive, sophisticated, detail oriented and expressive. They remain dedicated to using their expertise to guide clients through design and construction. WORD takes on design challenged with a high level of energy and intensity.
